Here is what Lorraine chose [...] A life-size playground where exploration and experimentation are limitless. As a multimedia artist, her inspirations guide her through illustration, photography, digital, video or painting in order to freely express her multifaceted creativity.

Lorraine is one of those artists who create from the heart to make art a vector of positive feelings.

She is what we might call an images creator. [...]

Through her ability to open her inner world to us, Lorraine shares a contemplative experience but also a way of life. A sharing that continues within her Ateliers CréA Vivre [name of the workshop] where the artist guides us so we can free our own creativity. Her workshops reflect a holistic approach to the artistic gesture. Mostly in order to maintain joy and cherish a precious self-encounter.

The creative spark of Lorraine Remise shines from this balance between introspective creation and openness to people.

Let's create [ all together ] for a better [ inner ] world créons [ ensemble ] pour un monde [ intérieur ] meilleur

I am that kid who never stopped creating, becoming the multidisciplinary artist I am now ! Beyond the professional part, being an artist is my way of living and being. Meaning that I need to create spontaneously, to get inspired by any detail, to feel free enough to explore anything that inspires me. In that, my practice is mostly self-taught and intuitive.

I grew up in a professional and non-professional family who taught me that too. I assume that my current mindset comes from this legacy and some of the encounters I made through time and experiences !

My education path was more about acting and theoretical approach of cinema, drama, photography, painting... Then I did my best to manage some personal projects (video first, then visual arts) while working for a few different companies mostly related to art, drama, television, fashion industries and so on.

Since 2020, I am leading my projects as a full time artist (art shows, commissions...). I created my Ateliers Créa Vivre in 2021 for adults. I ended up working with children and teenagers as well. Looking for a true meaning or a new way to share with people, someone told me once : Consider your job meaning is to save the world. Ok... maybe at least I can save a few people then ! Including me.

My art and creativity workshops are inspired by my needs and moods as an artist, as a woman, as the kid I used to be. But also by people surrounded me. I want to help artists to refresh their creativity and let go all the pressure from being their own agent. Then I want to guide beginners and non-professional people to express their creativity and emotions, to teach them some technic or share some positive thoughts. I aim to support people the way I think they might need it (within individual or group sessions). And since I am not academic and actually never really enjoyed my time at school, I consider myself as a random but authentic woman artist... not as a teacher. I like the way every workshops can be different, according to people expectations, places or context.

So far, all my projects happened in Paris, in the french province (Marseille, Arles, Amiens, Cherbourg...) and in New York City that I fell in love with. Through my art work and workshops, I hopefully spread some poetry, some humour, some positive vibes, some sweet imagination. If it can touch you, then maybe you save me as I save you !
